Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers Wins a Trophy at the North vs South Competition 2014

Gordon Hunt accepts the Harry Adams Trophy from Romy van Krieken

Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers' "Moving Oleta" (Moving Oleta) was judged the Best film from the South at the North vs South competition on 7th December. It also came Second overall, being beaten by a comedy from the North called "Imbuvable Feu" made by Altrincham Moviemakers. Sutton Coldfield Movie makers was awarded the Harry Adams Trophy for being placed second overall.

Congratulations

Well done to Arthur and Ann Fletcher who were the stars of "Moving Oleta" as well as being the script writers and Arthur was the editor. Congratulations to Gordon Hunt, the Director, and Alan Moore and Andy Wills, the Cinematographers.

Julian Austwick - director and editor of "The Decision", with Gordon Hunt

Ian Reed - director and editor of "Wishes", with Gordon Hunt

"Wishes" was selected to be shown in the North as being one of "the highlights" of the South non-qualifiers. It was also the first film in the programme shown in the South.

The Audience couldn't decide which they liked better: "The Decision" or "Moving Oleta".

The Audience Vote:

The South

- 1st "Imbuvable Feu" - Altrincham Moviemakers
- 2nd "The Decision" - Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers
- 3rd "Moving Oleta" - Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers

The North

- 1st "Imbuvable Feu" - Altrincham Moviemakers
- 2nd "Moving Oleta" - Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers
- 3rd "The Decision" - Sutton Coldfield Movie Makers
